U.S. Department of Commerce

CALL FOR: 2022 Sustainability, Energy, and Environmental Ambassador Nominations

The Department of Commerce's (the Department's) Office of Sustainable Energy and Environmental Programs (OSEEP) is calling for nominations for the Department's fourth annual Sustainability, Energy, and Environmental (SEE) Ambassadors Program. The SEE Ambassador distinction provides a great opportunity to recognize individual Department employees working hard to implement exceptional projects and programs that help the Department achieve its missions and meet sustainability, energy and water reduction, clean energy, climate change adaptation, resilience, and/or environmental performance goals. All nominees from Operating Units and Office of the Secretary Staff Offices that meet the selection criteria will be recognized.

Selection Criteria

The Department will make selections for recognition where the individual(s) have gone above and beyond typical day-to-day responsibilities to help achieve mission success, including staff who may not otherwise receive such recognition.

NOTE: This recognition program is independent of the Department's annual Energy and Environmental Stewardship Awards and is offered as an alternative way to highlight the achievements of individuals in energy, sustainability, and environmental management.

Application Details

Each nomination must highlight the efforts of one individual (this is not a team recognition).

Recognition

Designees will receive recognition from the Director of the Office of Facilities and Environmental Quality (OFEQ) and will receive a certificate honoring their commitment to sustainability within the Department. SEE Ambassadors will also be featured in OSEEP's communications materials and in a Commerce-wide broadcast email. Managers of designated SEE Ambassadors are encouraged to hold a recognition ceremony to celebrate their achievements.
