Post-Submission

An error-free application will continue to move forward to the awarding agency (DOC) for review after 2 business days (2-day viewing window).

During the 2-day viewing window, applicants may preview their application. The Signing Official (SO) also has the option to reject the application if necessary.

- IMPORTANT! The 2-day viewing window is NOT an extension to the application deadline. Applications must be submitted by the deadline date. It is not recommended to reject an error-free application and re-submit after the deadline has passed.

After the application submission deadline, applications will be screened for review. Then, it will go through DOC's review process and a funding decision will be made.

Applicants should continue to log into eRA Commons periodically to check the status of their application(s).
